Lois Ann Covelli (nee LaMorte), of Cortlandt Manor, passed into eternal rest suddenly on Saturday, July 23, 2011. She was 55.

Lois was the beloved wife of Joseph Covelli, loving daughter of Phyllis LaMorte and the late Matthew LaMorte of Yonkers, sister of Donna Castaldo, Janet Fitzpatrick, Phyllis Fitzpatrick and the late Susan LaMorte, and a loving aunt and great aunt to numerous nieces and nephews.

In addition to her tremendous devotion to her family, the greatest pleasures in Lois' life were her beloved poodles (who would loyally follow her like ducklings), her timeshare vacations, photography, and her extensive collection of Precious Moments figurines and Lenox china.

After many years working as a waitress at the International House of Pancakes in Pelham, NY, Lois was appointed a Westchester County Correction Officer in 1990, where she served until her retirement in 2009.

We'll always love and remember "Lo" for her feistiness, her wry sense of humor and her good heart.
